DESCRIPTION OF SWEDEN YACHTS 390, WING KEEL

This is a boat that combines wonderful sailing with a comfortable life onboard. The boat has been sailed only sparingly by its two owners, and has lived a comfortable life in the Stockholm Archipelago and the northern Baltic. Below deck, the wonderful interior is in almost new condition. The matt-painted interior is combined with quality textiles to make the boat feel light and cosy. The saloon is spacious and extremely comfortable. The galley offers plenty of storage and a large cool box. And of course there are two sinks and a stove with an oven. The position of the toilet towards the bow means that the saloon, galley and chart table feel both airy and snug. In the stern you will find two delightful cabins with plenty of storage. The owner's cabin is located in the bow, offering plenty of floor space as well as a good amount of storage. A lovely, large berth and the entrance to the toilet and shower.

The boat has a well-maintained teak deck that is a delight to walk around on. A powerful furling mast from Selden Mast. Good-sized fittings and winches, with large electric winches for the genoa. The cockpit is both protected and open, offering good visibility when sailing. The boat can easily be sailed with a small crew. Anchors fore and aft along with a bow thruster make it easy to enter a harbour.

With this quality boat from master yacht designer Peter Norlin, you have plenty to enjoy.
