DESCRIPTION OF ALTENA 49

This is a well-maintained and updated boat in overall good condition, where the current owner, with a background as a marine engineer in commercial shipping, has taken pride in keeping the boat in good shape, which not least the engine room expresses. Receipts are available for a recent major engine refit of more than EUR 15.000, where new impairs, pistons, turbo, intercooler and more have been added. Note only 10 engine hours since main overhaul.
The boat has just been in dock for a major overhaul and has had the bottom cleaned and applied new antifouling, as well as replaced all zinc anodes.
The boat is furnished with open plan, which gives a good sense of space. You arrive on the boat's teak equipped aft deck, from which there is direct access via sliding door to the deck lounge on the same level. The salon is furnished with sofa arrangement as well as steering position. The salon is covered with new carpets. From the saloon you walk three steps down to the large pantry on port and with dining area to starboard. Further on in the bow there is a toilet and separate bathroom. Furthest forward in the bow owners' cabin with large double berth and lockers. Both sofa arrangement and dining area can be converted into double bunks.
A boat that, with its spacious and good layout, both below deck and spacious deck lounge with 360-degree view, with direct access to the large protected aft deck covered with new handmade teak, as well as staircase to the flybridge, invites you to long stays on board. The applications are many and the boat is suitable for weekend and holidays, as well as a residential boat and for canal cruises.
