DESCRIPTION OF ARCONA 36

The Arcona 36 is one of the sailing boat that made the reputation of Arcona, which combined fast sailing performance in a strong hull, enhanced with a stylish interior. Built between 1986 and 1995 by the Boo Marin shipyard in Sweden and designed by naval architect Stefan Qviberg, this fixed keel sailboat, rigged as a fractional sloop offers what any passionate sailor is looking for.
This version has been very carefully and beautifully taken care of by its third owners, always sailed in the Baltics. The whole boat, from hull, teak deck and interior is in mint condition and saw a new Volvo and engine bed coming in 2019, and a new furling jib (2025). This boat comes with 3 cabins, and L shape kitchen on port side and a U shape saloon with 2 large sofas.
Rarely coming for sale as the owners keep them for long period, this is now your chance to sail one!
